Panel: Setting the Winning Conditions – AI Innovation Playbook

AI adoption in healthcare is no longer a question of “if” but “how.” While many organizations are exploring AI, successful implementation requires strategy, governance, and enterprise alignment. This panel brings together leaders from Canada's most forward-thinking healthcare organizations to discuss how they are embedding AI into their operations and culture to drive impact.

The discussion will explore how organizations develop ethical frameworks for responsible AI, assess and prioritize initiatives, and measure success in meaningful ways. Through real-world examples and lessons learned, this session offers practical insights for organizations at any stage of their AI journey.

- Joe Cafazzo, Executive Director, Biomedical Engineering, Wolfond Chair in Digital Health, UHN
- Greg Kennedy, Interim Director, AI Integration (John and Melinda Thompson Director of AI in Medicine), SickKids
- Muhammad Mamdani, Vice President – Data Science and Advanced Analytics, Unity Health
- Sheazin Premji, Executive Director – The Centre for Advanced Analytics, Data Science and Innovation, Fraser Health

Moderator: Ted Scott, VP Innovation and Partnerships, Hamilton Health Sciences

2:00pm      Networking Break

2:30pm      CHIEF Debate

Be it resolved that Canada cannot improve its health system in terms of capacity and improved outcomes without shifting to a nationally governed and integrated healthcare system.

- Sven Byl, Chief AI Officer and Vice President Enterprise Technology, Fraser Health
- Karen Hay, Health Industry Advisor, Global Public Sector, Salesforce
- Keltie Jamieson, CIO, Bermuda Hospitals Board
- Claire Snyman, Healthcare Advocate, Two Steps Forward
